Growing ROSE QUESNEL

Native Canadian Tobacco

Molson, the pioneer of steam navigation in Canada, would marvel at the modern trans-oceanic Steamship in the same degree that the pioneer tobacco planter would be astonished over the present methods used by up-to-date tobacco growers in certain districts of the Province of Quebec. The selection of seed, the preparation and sterilization of the seed-bed to kill out weed seeds, rotation of the crops, etc., are so many operations which the scientific tobacco planter has to attend to, even before the tobacco plant leaves the hot-bed.

Early in June, the plants are ready to be transferred to the field. A special machine, shown above, operated by two men, seated low down, makes holes in each hill, places therein the delicate plants, presses earth gently round the roots, waters them and banks earth around them better and quicker than if done by human hands.

The young plant, planted in sterilized soil, consisting of the most unctuous native earth, enriched with hard-wood ashes and other fertilizers, is now ready for its second growth and development. All planters in the Province do not follow this scientific system of culture, but those who do are well repaid for their trouble, as most of their output is bought by us at a premium and goes in the manufacture of

XMAS CARDS PUT "GINGER" INTO "PUNCH"

Remembrance Appreciated by Science Graduates Overseas.

SEVERAL WIN PROMOTION.

Lieuts. Macfarlane and Strathly Are Invested at Buckingham Palace.

Perhaps the most appreciative reply which has yet been received by the Students' Society of the University in acknowledgment of its Christmas cards sent overseas, comes from Captain Stuart S. Hawkins, Sci. '11, of the 78th Overseas Canadian Battalion now stationed at Bransholt, Hants. Capt. Hawkins writes:

"In acknowledging the Christmas card which arrived a few days ago, I want to let you know how glad it makes a chap feel when the old Alma Mater remembers him. Those little cards with the martlets and the red and white greeting will bring cheer to many a homesick chap. It has the same effect as the old yell has at a match, whether we're winning or losing. It means that those at home are doing their bit. It puts about ten more pounds of concentrated ginger into our 'punch'."

"Although I have not been across yet, your little card has given me additional hope that the marching orders will be out soon. With best wishes for you all and success to the old Red and White, Yours till the bust-up, Stuart S. Hawkins, Capt."

From "somewhere in the mud," Lieut. Rene B. Perrault, Sci. '17, of the 3rd Canadian Pioneer, sends his reply. He writes:

"Just to let you know that I received your Christmas greetings. That card had travelled all around the earth, but finally it arrived safe and sound. Am keeping touch with the college activities through the McGill Daily which is sent out to me. Ran into Pringle Seath, Sci. '16, the other day. He was writing an observation post, and seemed quite cheerful. McGill boys are to be seen everywhere, and all are playing strong. Best wishes to all the Students' Society's enterprises this coming year."

Major H. C. Burgess, of No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) has also sent an acknowledgment.

London is Optimistic.

Writing from London, Lieut. R. S. O'Meara, Arts '17, now of the Canadian artillery, sends thanks to the class of Arts '17 for their Christmas parcel, and also to the Students' Society for its Christmas card. "It's good to know we're not forgotten," he says, "though it looks as if we who got back the ones of '17 who stuck to it will have left McGill behind—hard to realize I'd have been a bloomin' B.Sc. this year but for the Kaiser—traffice him anyway. Every body round here is very optimistic, and the war seems a long way off—orchestras playing, good meals and lots of pretty girls, some change after 18 months in France." Lieut. O'Meara has just been recalled to England from France to take out a commission in the artillery after over a year at the front with No. 2 Canadian Divisional Sanitary Section. He was managing editor of McGill Daily before he enlisted in the summer of 1916 under Major T. A. Starkey. He is now stationed at Folkestone.

Pte. W. W. Beveridge, Arts '16, Med. '18, who has been with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) since its inception, has been promoted to a commission in the Imperial forces, and is now undergoing training in England before proceeding to the front. The death of his father, James Beveridge, took place in Vancouver, B.C., a few days ago. Lieut. Beveridge was sporting editor of McGill Daily before he enlisted. At the McGill General Hospital he was one of the founders of the unit newspaper, "The McGilliken."

Another member of the McGill Daily staff, Pte. A. N. Jenks, Dent. '17, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant in the Canadian Infantry, and is training in England. He (Continued on Page 3.)

SLANDER ACTION BETWEEN MEDICOS.

An action to recover damages to the extent of $500 for alleged slander has been entered in the Superior Court of the Province by Messrs. Jasmin and Berthiaume, avocates, acting for a Fourth Year Medical student, and an appearance has been filed by Messrs. MacLennan, Howard and Aylmer, in the Superior Court in the interests of another Fourth Year Medical student, against whom the action for alleged slander is entered. The date of the trial has not yet been determined, but it is expected that it will be two or more months before it will take place.

The slander is alleged to have been committed following a lecture in the New Medical Building, and while the plaintiff and defendant were in conversation with regard to the subject taken up by the lecturer.

It is said that an effort is being made to settle the matter out of court.

MED. JUNIORS WANT TO OFFER SERVICES

Summer Course Is Requested By Fourth Year Med. Students.

If the request of the class receives favourable consideration at the hands of the War Office, the students of Medicine '18 will spend the coming summer at their studies in Montreal instead of being scattered throughout the country on their vacations. At a meeting of the class held some days ago a resolution was adopted that if possible a summer course be secured in order that the members of the class may be enabled to graduate within a shorter period of time, and thus be in a position to offer their services to the Medical authorities for active service. The class executive, so McGill Daily was informed yesterday, have approached Major F. S. Patch, Assistant Director of Medical Services for this Division, in the matter, and Major Patch has forwarded their application to Headquarters for consideration.

Should the application be granted, the class of Medicine '18 will be graduated in January, 1918, instead of in the following June. A summer course was granted the class of Medicine '17 by the Faculty of Medicine by request of the War Office, and the men of this class are now writing their final examinations, at the conclusion of which it is expected that the majority of the successful candidates will offer their services to either the Canadian Army Medical Corps or the Royal Army Medical Corps. Several of those who are now engaged in writing their final examinations have already seen service overseas with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), and in the class of Medicine '18 there are also a number of returned soldiers, including men who have been with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital, No. 6 Canadian Field Ambulance, and the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles Battalion.

HARVARD.

A committee has just been appointed to look into the matter of establishing a memorial fund for the Harvard men who are serving in various capacities in the European War. Many are in the Red Cross Service.

NAMED RHODES SCHOLAR.

Gunner Eldon Scott, of the 271st Canadian Siege Battery (McGill), has been named as Rhodes Scholar from the University of Bishop's College, of which he is a graduate in Arts.

ENDOWMENT AT U. OF C.

The senior class at the University of California is contemplating the starting of an endowment plan. In case this plan is endorsed by the class, each student will sign a note to pay $11.50, $7.50 to be paid this year. $4 of this latter sum to go into the permanent treasury and the remaining $3.50 will be used for senior week expenses. After graduation the continue to pay $3 per year until the remainder of the $19.50 is paid.

WHEN HE LOST HIS SEVENTH PAIR OF EYEGLASSES THIS MCGILL SOLDIER WAS RETURNED TO ENGLAND.

This is a true story from a war zone, although it may sound very much like a burlesque. There was once at McGill, and not so very many years ago, a second year Law student, who was in addition a graduate in Arts of the University (the one condition upon which this story was released for publication was that the student's name should not be made public), who was very anxious to offer himself for service overseas. Every time he attempted the medical examination he was turned down owing to his poor eyesight, which was so defective that without the aid of his eyeglasses he could recognize no object the length of a lecture room. In desperation at his repeated rejection because of his faulty eyesight, he obtained access to the eye chart in use by the medical examiner, and with the assistance of this knowledge passed the test prescribed for admission to the ranks of the First Universities Company commanded by Captain Gregor Barclay.

When he was equipped with his eyeglasses the young Law student (who was also well known in Montreal newspaper circles), made quite as good a soldier as any other member of the company, but without them he was as useless as an Arts smoker without "Allouette." He had no difficulty in getting through his musketry examinations (with the aid of his glasses), and in bomb-throwing he made a name for himself. To provide for any emergency, Pte. Shortright took seven pairs of eyeglasses to the front with him when the First Universities Company went to France. Thus he was enabled to see the signs in the trench thoroughfares, to catch an occasional glimpse of a German through a periscope, and to carry out his duties as sentry go with as much vigilance as any other member of the company. The trouble commenced with the loss of his sixth pair of eyeglasses, and with the additional loss of the optician's prescription. The Channel lay between him and the nearest optician, and he could not secure leave. Upon the seventh pair of glasses all depended. At last there came the day when a passing comrade brushed the precious glasses from his rest. They struck a stone and the soldier was to all intents and purposes as a soldier blind. He got into all sorts of trouble by neglecting to salute officers, became lost in the maze of trenches, and when on outpost duty threw the whole unit into confusion when he sent back word that the Germans had launched a poison gas attack when the supposed gas-cloud was a mist hanging over some low ground.

It was not long before the officers realized the predicament in which one of their previously most efficient soldiers was placed. Then came the order for him to be returned to England. Hastings, England, will now find our hero.

COUNCILLORS SHOWED WAY TO STUDENTS

Many Student Leaders Serving In Overseas Units.

ARE WITH ALL BRANCHES

As Officers and In Ranks Former Students Are Serving Country.

The Students' Council of the University is justly proud of its Roll of Honour representative of the part which its past members have taken in the war.

Of the first Students' Council which held office in the session 1908-09 five members have enlisted, of whom the President, Captain Guy M. Drummond, has given his life, and two other members have been wounded. Captain Drummond was killed in action during the fighting on the Ypres salient in April, 1915, when the 13th Royal Highlanders of Canada, to which he was attached, bore the brunt of the German attack and poison gas, and made a name for themselves which will ever live. Captain J. A. DeLancey, the Science representative on the Council, was one of the first to offer his services when the 25th Battalion was formed soon after war was declared in his native Province of Nova Scotia. He went overseas with the rank of lieutenant, but has since been promoted to his present rank and wounded. For his gallant conduct at St. Elid Capt. DeLancey was mentioned in despatches, and for distinguished work with his company during the fighting on the Somme front recently he has been decorated. Captain Gregor Barclay, Law representative on the pioneer Students' Council and its vice-president, volunteered his services early in the war, and after training with the McGill Contingent, C.O.T.C., in which he was chosen a company commander, was chosen to command the First Universities Company, which was ultimately sent to France to reinforce the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. He went to the front with the rank of lieutenant, and served with the "Pats" for several months before being invalided to Canada suffering from shellshock and general breakdown. He is now acting as deputy judge advocate general of the Canadian forces in Canada. Lieut. W. Laytton Cassels, president of the Hockey Club, and also editor of McGill Daily, joined the Canadian Engineers a year ago, trained at Ottawa, and was only at the front a few weeks before he was wounded. He is still in France. Lieut. C. J. Hanratty, who was secretary of the 1908-09 and the 1909-10 Councils, joined the 95th Battalion Irish Canadian Engineers when the unit was organized last winter, and went overseas with a draft of officers during the summer.

Captain H. H. Hepburn, Medicine representative in the 1909-10 Council, is serving in a hospital overseas, while Capt. A. O. McMurtry, president of the Hockey Club, is one of the original artillery officers of the First Canadian Division. He is with the 4th Battery, Lieut. Douglas Cushing, president of the Union, joined the Royal Flying Corps, and is now a prisoner in Germany after having been reported as missing for some length of time.

The secretary of the 1910-11 Council is also a prisoner of war. Pte. W. C. Common having been captured in the Ypres fighting of April, 1915. The president of the Union of that year, Lieut. N. A. Thompson, is with the 2nd Brigade, C.F.A., while the president of the Hockey Club, Capt. G. A. S. Ramsay, is serving with the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The 1911-12 Council has seven enlistments to show, the President, Capt. G. A. S. Ramsay, and six other members being in khaki. Captain W. B. G. Murray, president of the Track Club, who has been with the Royal Flying Corps since the war broke out, has been twice wounded. Lieut. H. G. Rogers, president of the Athletic Association, went overseas with the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles, and after the attack of the Germans on the Ypres salient last June was reported missing. He has now turned (Continued on Page 3.)

HELPING THE DAILY.

You missed the Daily during the examinations, didn't you? We heard many of the fellows remark upon its absence, and the general opinion seemed to be that the University would be pretty dead if it ceased publication. We have, let us assure you, no thought of giving up the ghost, but we have a word or two to say on behalf of the paper, and although the same idea has been presented a number of times before in these columns, we think that it cannot be brought forward too often. It is co-operation. The few men who keep the Daily alive need your help. If you can devote your personal services direct we will be only too glad to accept them; if you cannot do this, there are innumerable indirect ways in which you can help us along. You see some item of news that may have escaped our notice—send it in. Even if we already have it we are none the less appreciative of your thoughtfulness. We do the best that we can, but we have lectures to attend as well as you; we have examinations to prepare for as well as you, and we have, in addition, the same routine of work night after night of seeing that you have The Daily for the morning.

And by the way, that brings to mind another thought. A great many fellows think that it is a privilege for us to be allowed to publish this paper. If it happens to be a little late some mornings—a circumstance which is absolutely outside of our control, it is demanded of us in none too gentle terms the why and wherefore of the delay. If an article appears that doesn't please some person we are given a personal "call down" for it. We admit your right to be pleased or displeased with the paper, but remember that we can't please everyone, and what is more to the point, we are not foolish enough to attempt it. There! There! We are getting "het up" over this, but you understand what we mean? don't you? We ask for just a little consideration. We welcome constructive criticism, and are willing to do anything possible to insure a newsier and more representative college newspaper, and it is with this end in view that we make the present appeal.

About this time of year news is pretty scarce, and it is at just such a time that we require all the co-operation you can give. It doesn't have to be a big story to be welcome. We require other than "30 pointers" for every issue. We want news of the graduates, the undergraduates, and those who never graduated. We are always willing to receive notices of meetings and accounts of what transpired at them. In short, we welcome any news of interest to the students of the University as a whole, or to any portion of the student body.

Don't you think that you could do something to help the paper along?

NEED FOR PREPAREDNESS SANITY.

In these days of Preparedness, particularly across the border, people seem to be going crazy over the project. We can hardly pick up an American paper but we are confronted with the plea for arms and arming in every and any possible manner. In view of this it is somewhat unusual to note the sane attitude taken in an editorial recently in the Minnesota Daily, one of the really prominent College Dailies in the States. The editorial referred to follows:

There is one simple and easy way of becoming famous in this day of preparedness hysteria. Suggest the mobilization of something or other in the name of national defense and you do not even have to go to sleep to wake up and find yourself famous. The deans of the medical schools of the country have adopted a resolution endorsing the training of enough medical men to take care of soldiers in the war which we are approaching. Nobody knows just exactly what war this is: that is not necessary. There is a sort of contagious dog-madness of preparedness spreading over the nation. He who pleads for essential sanity does it under pain of being branded a white-livered coward and a traitor to his country. It might have been hoped that a reasonable amount of saving sense would be left in the colleges and universities of the country; but that hope is a false one. No doubt someone will suggest that the undertakers mobilize for national defense; we have, it seems, almost every other occupation mobilized now by some resolution or other.

A few years ago it was stylish for college and university presidents and professors to head organizations for world peace. There has been a sudden change recently; peace is no longer fashionable. The w. k. Mr. Bryan has taken it with himself into shameful retirement. Undoubtedly European capitals set the style in this game as they do in clothes. The noisy part of the American people follows this with about as much use of human reasoning powers as they formerly followed the orders of the Parisian clothes autocrats.

It is indeed a sad state of affairs. Lord Rosebery recently said: "I know nothing more disheartening than the announcement recently made that the United States—the one great country left in the world free from the hideous, bloody burden of war—is about to embark upon the building of a huge armada, destined to be equal or second to our own. I confess it is a disheartening prospect, that this nation so remote from the European conflict, should voluntarily, in these days, lay upon themselves a burden, which, after the war, will be found to have broken, or almost broken our backs." Yet why college men—oftentimes accused of being intelligent and educated—should lead in this hysteria of fear, without waiting to see if the European madness proves conclusively the folly of armaments, is one of the supreme mysteries of higher education.

SHARK ADDITION TO MUSEUM

An eight foot cow shark has been added to the zoological museum of the University of Washington. The fish weighs 600 pounds and will be used for the study of comparative zoology. The zoologists will observe the parasites on its skin.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT TO LECTURE.

The president of Ohio state university has been asked to give a talk on vocational subjects before the student body. The first of the will be relative to the occupation teaching.

JUNIOR BAR.

The Junior Bar Association of Montreal will hold a meeting in the Oak Room of the Windsor Hotel to-morrow evening, at 8.30, at which an address will be delivered by Lieutenant-General the Hon. Sir Sam Hughes, O.C.B., on "The Militia Act in Reference to Overseas Service and Constitutional Status of Dominion Troops Overseas." A special invitation to be present has been extended by the Junior Bar Association to the students of the University, and in particular to the Faculty of Law.

PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

The next meeting of the Philosophical Society will be held in Strathcona Hall on Monday evening, January 29. Mr. R. J. Clark will read a paper on "The Theory of the Infinite." A cordial invitation is extended to all students from both sides of the house to attend this meeting. All those interested will be sure to pass a most enjoyable evening. The executive is anxious to have all the members who can possibly do so, attend this meeting.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET.

There will be a short but important meeting of the Cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. in Room 12, R.V.C., at 1.30 p.m. to-day.

R. V. C. KNITTING.

Now that the term exams are over, the students of the R. V. C. will have more time for knitting. Most of the girls have friends or relatives to whom they send socks, but surely everyone could find time to knit a pair for some boy in the McGill Battery. That unit is in urgent need of these comforts, and at least fifty pairs must be sent from R. V. C. by February 15th. If the girls who have not an opportunity to make any before that day would furnish wool for them, some of the other girls would be glad to knit two pairs. This is a college unit, and it is up to the students of R. V. C. to give them what aid they can.

HOCKEY HOURS.

Will those classes that want hockey hours on the Campus Rink please put in their applications at once for them? This is the last time that the request will be made, and those who have not made the application by Monday need not bother doing so, because there will be none dealt with after that date.

JUNIOR HOCKEY.

The Junior Hockey team will hold a practice on the Campus Rink on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All the members are requested to turn out.

MANY SENIORS PETITION.

The following is a list of the Universities in the States at which the senior classes are petitioning the members of the faculty to do away with the troublesome second semester examinations. In several cases the faculty has devised a scheme whereby those of the fourth year who warrant it are made exempt from finals. The list follows: Washington, Oregon, Leland Stanford, California, Virginia, Vassar, Columbia, Cornell, Rutgers, Bowdoin, Washington and Jefferson, Texas, Princeton, Pittsburgh, Kenyon, Michigan and Vanderbilt.

GIVES TRINITY $150,000.

Almost one-quarter $248,000 in all, has been subscribed in the campaign for raising $1,000,000 for Trinity College in Hartford, Conn. Of the total amount subscribed, $150,000 is the gift of J. Pierpont Morgan, a trustee of the college, whose father, for many years a member of the Board of Trustees, gave Williams Memorial Hall.

The sum of $600,000 will be used as an endowment to increase and provide for the salaries of professors and instructors. The building will be used as a fund for the building of a new chapel and a new gymnasium, and for alterations to be made in the main building. Additions are to be made to the Jarvis Laboratories and the Boardman Hall of Natural History.

OKLAHOMA.

The Student Council is holding a week an open ballot among student and faculty as to the popular which exists for or against the proposed Honor System. If the vote indicates that the system is desired, the president of the Student Council will put the system into operation immediately.

also was with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), where he was associated in the direction of The McGilliken.

Capt. Walter Nelson, Arts '04, of the 244th Battalion, "Kitchener's Own," has been promoted to the rank of major while in command of "A" Company. Major Nelson is controller of the Students' Society of McGill, and honorary treasurer of the Students' Union.

Invested at Palace.
Lieut. Donald H. Macfarlane, Sci. 17, and Lieut. Lee Strath, Sci. 15, the former of the Canadian Divisional Signal Company, and the latter of the Canadian Field Artillery, have been invested at Buckingham Palace with the Military Cross, on press advices from London state.

A London despatch says that Lieut. S. C. Montgomery, shot in the left wrist, is at a casualty station in France. This is taken as referring to Lieut. S. C. Montgomery, Sci. '15, who was president of the Science Undergraduates' Society before he enlisted as a gunner in the 21st Battery. He won his commission in the field.

Major F. A. Wilkin, Sci. '05, of the Canadian Machine Guns, has just been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel while commanding a Machine Gun Brigade of the Canadian Corps in France.

Lieut. Clifford Scott, Med. '14, of the Royal Army Medical Corps, who has been awarded the Military Cross, is expected home in Ottawa shortly from England.

"Capt. R. H. Green (Arts '12), has made quite a name for himself in his department and is known to be about the best paymaster in the division. I hope he will be recognized as he deserves," says a letter from an officer at the front.

Stanley H. Cunningham, Arts '13, Sci. '14, has enlisted as a gunner in the 7th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, now recruiting in Montreal. Capt. H. C. West, Med. '15, of the Royal Army Medical Corps, is now serving in a hospital in England, but expects shortly to go to France for the second time, his place in England being taken by an American civilian doctor, Capt. West originally enlisted with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), and on arrival in England secured a commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps. After serving for a year in France, he became ill and was invalided to England, where since recuperation he has been engaged in hospital work.

Capt. George Cuzner, Med. '00, has enlisted in British Columbia with the Canadian Army Medical Corps, and expects to go overseas in command of the next draft from Camp Willows. The last draft, which went overseas only a few days ago, was in command of Capt. Osborne Morris, Med. '00, who was practicing at Vernon, B.C., previous to enlistment.

Lieut. Rodger Stewart Kennedy, Arts '12, of the West Yorkshire Regiment, is spending a fortnight's leave in Ottawa, his father, Mr. H. A. Kennedy, being connected with the Military Hospitals' Commission. Lieut. Kennedy is a native of Montreal, and a graduate of McGill. He spent four years at Macdonald College and played on the university football team. But for the loss of an eye, he has almost completely recovered from his many wounds.

Lieut. H. E. Scott, Arts '13, of Quebec, who was wounded in the shoulder in the attack on Regina trench on the Somme front, has been invalided home. Lieut. Scott enlisted originally in the Borden Armoured Battery.

BEHAN SECOND IN CITY LEAGUE RACE

Billie Young, of the 244th Battalion, is Still the Top Scorer.

By scoring one goal on Monday last Billie Young retained his lead in the list of City League scorers by a slight margin. Behan, of McGill, increased his total by three, and is now pressing Young very closely. McCullough, of McGill, also notched two, and is now in a tie for third place. So far this season 79 goals have been scored in the City League series, which is an average of just over three goals per team per game. McCullough found his old time shot on Monday last, and will doubtless make both Young and his team-mate hustle to hold the honours.

Following is a list of scorers of two or more goals:

BANQUET AND MOOT TRIAL IN LAW SOON

Annual Banquet to be Held—Preparations for Another Moot Court.

For many a year now the Law Banquet has been the great thing in the student life of the Undergraduates in the Faculty of Law, and this year is no exception. The plans of the Dean and of the Committee in charge of the arrangements are followed out. When approached in regard to the holding of the dinner, Dean Lee expressed himself as very much in favour of continuing the custom, although, in his opinion, it should not be quite so elaborate as in other years. When this information was communicated to the Undergraduate Society, the members of that body expressed themselves as unanimously in favour of the Dean's proposal, and the following committee was elected to look after the arrangements: From the third year, F. W. Hackett; Second year, F. Bowles; First year, Mr. Bridgeman.

These men are getting down to business, and will have satisfactory arrangements concluded before very long. The idea this year is to restrict the attendance to students and professors of the Faculty, instead of selling tickets to members of the Bar from the city. This will result in the dinner being in every sense of the word one by and for the students of Law.

Preparations are also being made to hold another Moot Court and the event is being eagerly awaited by the students. Professor Howard, K.C., of McLennan, Howard and Aylmer, is going to set the subject which is to prove the bone of contention for the embryo legal lights. The last Moot Trial was most successful, practically every undergraduate being present, and from the enthusiasm displayed by the students over the possibility of another interesting argument, this one should be as well attended. Further information in this regard will be given in a couple of days, when Mr. Howard will have made known his subject and the counsels have been chosen.

BASKETBALL PICTURE.
The basketball team will have their picture taken today at Gordon's studio at 4 p.m. The following men are requested to be on hand, and to have their uniforms with them:
Loughery, Upham, Ferguson, Hearty, Pitts, McLeod.

WISCONSIN.
President Van Hise recently refused to allow Max Eastman the use of any of the university buildings in which to give his talks. The reason given was that Eastman is nothing but a propagandist and must therefore rent a hall of his own.
